

Dear FCC, I am alarmed at the idea of removing the limits of how many radio/TV stations and other media one person or company can own. The more owners of media, the more healthy competition and balanced use of the airwaves and internet there will be. Our democracy and freedoms depend on there being multiple reporting of events and actions and views. The limits of ownership serve a good purpose, and should be left as is. Sincerely, Catie Shinn